Do you need help with the cost of cancer?

It may not be the first of your worries, but cancer can be tough on your finances.

You may earn less if you need to stop working or reduce your hours. You may spend more on everyday costs like heating and travelling to hospital.

But with our support and guidance no one has to face the financial impact of cancer alone.

You can deal with your money worries early, so you can get back to the things that matter most.

Call our dedicated helpline on 0344 847 7727

- Calls to 03 numbers cost no more than a national rate call to an 01 or 02 number and count towards any inclusive minutes in the same way as 01 and 02 calls and you can leave a message for us to call you back.

- Email us at:
macmillansurrey@citahants.org

- Or drop into one of our outreach services listed overleaf - please call the helpline for availability

"Gave me confidence to accept I had cancer and sort out my money with me. I know there is someone I can talk to with questions who cares. I was given a grant for some glasses so now I can read and do my cross-stitch which has made me very happy. "

Macmillan give people with cancer everything they've got. If you're diagnosed, your worries are their worries. They will move mountains to help you live life as fully as you can. They'll do whatever it takes. For information, support or just someone to talk to, call 0808 808 00 00 or visit
